Assessment test

This test requires knowledge in HTML, CSS and JavaScript.
You are free to choose small libraries (e.g. lodash, Axios) or even frameworks.
Preprocessors and tests of any kind are absolutely optional.
Attached mockups could be seen as a guideline to how the result should look.
If there are open questions, choose the most reasonable answers for yourself.
Should there be problems with the API endpoint, contact us with a detailed bug description.

The task

Implement a result list for hotels

- When the user clicks the „Load hotels" button, the data of five hotels should be received from the API endpoint and rendered on the result page.
- When the user clicks on a „Show reviews" button, the reviews should be loaded for this specific hotel and displayed in a list below the hotel information, but inside the hotel item container

API endpoint

To provide you with required data, we've set up a test environment in Contentful.
SpaceID: gyfunrv4a4ak
Access Token: k9P9FQJcUpHKrHX3tXrgXunRyiS3qPchtY7V61tNruE

Find all needed API documentations here:
REST: https://www.contentful.com/developers/docs/references/content-delivery-api/
GraphQL: https://www.contentful.com/developers/docs/references/graphql/

GraphQL Web UI:

Use the rich-text-plain-text-renderer for parsing any RichText (e.g. hotel description).

Additional requirements

Should run without errors on current versions of Chrome, Firefox, Safari and Edge. HTML should be valid for current HTML5 standards. Responsive behavior is not requested, but feel free to be creative!
